A recess of fifteen minutes was then taken to give the committee time to make its report.

At the end of the time specified the committee reported a set of rules and regulations governing the organization of the District Committee of the Fifth District, as prepared by T. McCants Stewart and confirmed by the committee. Mr. Mc-Cants Stewart moved the rules be taken up section by section.

This precipitated a long debate as to whether they should not first be printed and then taken up for consideration. The Chair read the report. Curtis Iaukea spoke against adopting them at that time. The Chair ruled that the committee could make such rules as it saw fit. If the convention desired to postpone consideration of the rules and proceed to the election of permanent officers, it could do so. A vote upon the question of havng the rules printed before consideration was finally defeated.

The rules were then taken up article by article. The Chairman as a member spoke against the last article which referred to two-thirds voting for a suspension of the rules. He moved that the clause be amended to read that a majority vote could suspend the rules, which was carried, Mr. McCants Stewart moved the adoption of the rules as a whole. laukea spoke against it and asked that his vote be so recorded. "I feel it my duty to protest against the railroading of a lot of rules through this convention," he said, "If I thought there was a possibility of tabling the rules I would so make a motion."
